Millennium's Response to the Automotive News Article, "Tire Plan a Blowout"

Look for this letter in your upcoming issue of Automotive News

To the Editor:

Thanks for the recent article regarding the Texas-based, uninsured Tires for Life program marketed by Millennium Protection Group Inc. ("Tire plan is a blowout; dealers, drivers stuck," Nov. 2).

Although accurate and informative, the article brought great attention and alarm to auto dealers across the country about the dangers of using a program that does not follow good business practices with fully insured backing.

It is a shame that a company such as the one featured in your article can tarnish the name and reputation of the good guys like those of us in Oklahoma who provide nothing but quality programs to dealers and general agents across the country.

Since 1999, our programs have been in effect under the Millennium Automotive Protection Plan marketing label, and we have aligned ourselves with nothing less than A-rated insurance backing for our service contract, GAP and aftermarket programs, including Tire and Wheel.

We strongly urge all auto dealers to do thorough due diligence with all service providers to make sure their aftermarket products provide nothing but quality administration and fully insured A-rated insurers.
